What is the Every Student Succeeds Act?

- The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) is the United States’ national policy for public education from pre-K through grade 12.

- ESSA provides states with funding to support students, teachers, and schools — for things like services for low-income students, English learners, and students with disabilities [and/or those with Individualized Education Plans (IEPs)].

What’s New in ESSA?

- ESSA gives state and local governments more flexibility to decide how to measure student performance and school quality. For example, ESSA requires that all states adopt “challenging academic standards,” but allows states to choose what those standards will be.

- In exchange for that flexibility, ESSA requires that state and local government leaders engage with their communities to make decisions that best fit their needs.

- ESSA has kept in place many important policies and opportunities that matter to our country as a whole, including tracking how students are doing academically, looking at the gaps in performance among groups of students, and making sure that those who need support receive it.

What is a State ESSA Plan?

- The first decisions under ESSA have happened at the state level, where state leaders engaged with the larger state education community to develop state ESSA plans, which outline how states plan to meet the requirements of the law. These state ESSA plans include:
  - Standards for what children should learn in each grade
  - Assessments for finding out if children have met those standards
  - Long-term goals for schools and students
  - A way to measure if schools are on track to meet those goals
  - A system of support for all schools, especially those that are struggling the most

What Does ESSA Mean for My School?

- Every state’s ESSA plan is required to support schools and districts as they write their own local plans for school improvement and plans for use of federal funds. These local ESSA plans will describe how schools will support students and improve over time.

- In some states, only schools that are identified by the state as lowest performing will be required to submit plans for school improvement. All schools that receive federal funding must submit applications for those funds.

- Under ESSA, all local ESSA plans must be written in consultation with families and communities — called “stakeholder engagement” — and should be designed to support education equity.
